The Philippines – A Hubbis Wealth Management Market Update & Outlook Discussion

- What is the current state of the wealth management market in terms of the client base and the delivery of advice and investment solutions?
- How will the Philippines further develop its wealth management market?
- Is regulation evolving positively or does it still inhibit the wealth market's potential? What can be done to encourage greater liberalisation?
- What are local private clients investing in these days, why and what is the outlook?
- Is legacy & succession planning high on the agenda, why or why not, and who is leading the way in terms of advisory expertise?
- What is the state of digital transformation, and where are the banks and other players focusing their main investment and effort?
- How do wealth managers enhance client centricity and personalisation?
- Are there wealth management talent wars in the Philippines?
- The crystal ball - what next for the Philippines?
